THE COCKTAIL MENU

I was sitting right here, where you are now, looking out across the Rhine Valley – towards the Vosges, over fields, hills and forests. Sometimes a blanket of cloud settled over the valley, and for a moment everything felt a little quieter.

Each day, I explored a different corner – the forest, the river, small towns or the vineyards. I recorded my impressions in letters to my family. Little snapshots of the region.

What you are holding is part of that collection. Many of the ingredients come from springtime here in the region: blossoms, herbs, fruit and the first warm days. Perhaps you will find a trace of them in your glass.

*With love,
Luise*

Our cocktail menu is available daily from 3:30 pm.

The river

Today I walked a little way along the river.

The water here is so clear that you can see the stones on the riverbed, and near the banks the air immediately feels a little cooler.

In a small garden right beside the water, cucumbers grow between beds of dill. It gave me an idea.

I took a clear cucumber spirit, added some fresh cucumber juice and brightened it with dill. The colour reminds me of my Vespa...

Following the river through the countryside, I reached a small village. One house with a little garden immediately caught my eye. The year's first rosemary was flowering along the fence, its scent incredibly intense in the warm air. It took me straight back to my childhood. In the garden, a peach tree stood in full bloom. I think vermouth is the perfect match, with a little rosemary and a squeeze of lemon for freshness.

Luise*

The vineyards

Today I walked through the vineyards. Spring is everywhere – the fields are green, and fruit trees stand among the young vines in full bloom. The air smells sweet and fresh at the same time.

Along one of the paths I ran into an old friend. He distils his own gin, and before we parted he showed me a cocktail he had created. He even wrote down the recipe and signed it, so I could keep it as a memento.

Blue blossoms, a little tonic, blueberries and a touch of honey – light, fresh and slightly playful.

As I walked through the vineyards, I kept noticing elderflower growing along the paths and at the edges of meadows. That idea later became a drink that shows elderflower in a different light.

It has a gentle smoky note, yet remains fresh and clean. Then comes that distinctive elderflower character – floral and sweet on one side, more tart and intriguing on the other. Finished with fresh lime, the drink is not too sweet: lightly smoky, lively and very refreshing. I have enclosed a picture with both recipes on it.

Luise*

The forest

The first hot day of spring – yet a cool breeze moves through the forest. Away from the trails, I stand in a small clearing. A picture-perfect scene. I even think I saw a fawn.

And even here I cannot let go of the thought: how do you capture a moment like this in a cocktail?

It quickly becomes clear – it needs wood and smoke. The base: whisky. Sweetness, spice and acidity in balance. The highlight is a lightly smoky foam that brings the drink together.

I want to capture the woody notes in a true classic: a Negroni aged in an oak cask. After a long search, I found the perfect barrel – I will send it to you.

*With love,
Luise*

The city

Today I wandered through Freiburg. Among the narrow lanes, the Minster and people from all over the world, you quickly sense how lively this city is. People sit together everywhere. Strangers soon become friends.

In a bar, I had the idea for a drink inspired by an English classic, but made with regional ingredients – whisky, sloe liqueur, maraschino and a touch of Angostura. Bold, fruity and elegant. I called it 'Just Us'.

One of these ideas emerged between a market stall, the scent of herbs and a brief conversation that stayed with me longer than expected. There was this dark berry fruit, a delicate trace of juniper, something bitter, something fresh – and somewhere in between, rosemary holding it all together like a quiet thought. Not a loud drink, but one that slowly opens up: red, aromatic, slightly wild and with just the right hint of bitterness.

Enough for today... Take in the view!

*With love,
Luise*

THE CLASSICS

LUISE's Espresso Martini Spiced Rum | Liqueur² | Espresso | Tonka 17

'Homemade at its best.' House-roasted beans, homemade coffee liqueur and Schladerer's finest cream liqueur – a drink that perfectly reflects our philosophy: local and homemade. Also available in the classic style.

Sidecar Cognac | Cointreau | Lemon 15

The Sidecar is a true cocktail classic. It takes its name from the motorcycle sidecar in which an officer was regularly driven to the bar where the drink was first mixed.

Old Fashioned Bourbon | Sugar | Angostura 16

A drink from a time when 'cocktail' meant exactly this: spirit, sugar and bitters – an Old Fashioned needs nothing more.

Sour Cocktail Spirit | Sugar | Lemon 15

A Sour is a formula, not a single drink. Whisky, pisco, gin, rum, amaretto or another spirit – which version will you choose?

Martini Cocktail Gin | Vermouth | Lemon 15

Everyone takes their Martini differently: shaken or stirred, dry or dirty – anything goes. Your move, Mr and Ms Bond.
